MISUNDERSTANDING. Campbell patrolman Robert J. Locke and Captain Harvey Hutchins, of the Sheriff's Office attempt to haul "Bimbo" Giuntoli, owner of 365 Club, San Francisco, to the hoosegow on the complaint of a private citizen that "Bimbo" stole a mule, to settle an agreement made with Ugo Orsie, 451 South Winchester Road. Smiling Giuntoli said it was all a misunderstanding and offered to pay for the mule. The matter was settled out of court.

TEMPERS FLARE IN MISUNDERSTANDING OVER LOCAL 'STOLEN' MULE CASE

Complications to the settlement made in Italy between Ugo Orsie, 451 South Winchester Road, Campbell, and Bimbo Giuntoli, owner of the "365 Club" in San Francisco, were finally worked out at Orsie's ranch Sunday night.

The affair involved (1) a mule; (2) the Santa Clara County Sheriff's office; (3) the Campbell Police Department; (4) an irate property owner; and (5) a cash settlement.

Here's the story: Orsie and Giuntoli, schoolmates in Italy, agreed to buy a meal and a mule to whom ever was less financially fortunate when they met in America.

Giuntoli, accordingly, transferred his cuisine from his night club to Orsie's ranch, but when it came to the mule part of the bargain, he ran into difficulty. There was no mule to be had, according to Tony Raffanti, owner of Tony's Busy Bee in Campbell, one of the guests at the big feed.

As the evening progressed, according to Raffanti, someone hazily remembered seeing a mule behind the San Jose Towel Company on Berryessa Street, San Jose.

Giuntoli, unable to locate the owner, took the mule anyway, on a borrowed panel truck, after carefully replacing the fence he had torn down.

That's when the Campbell police and the sheriff's office entered the picture.

Two bystanders obligingly helped to load the animal on the truck, but took the license number and notified the sheriff's office. Captain Harvey Hutchins and Campbell Policeman Robert J. Locke were notified to look into the matter.

The affair was amicably settled when Paul Tedesco, owner of the mule, agreed to accept $50 as payment for the animal, without lodging a complaint.

"I was going to sell him to a glue factory the next day for $9," Tedesco said.

COUNCIL O.K.'S SUBDIVISION MAP; APPROVES ENGINEER'S CREEK REPORT

Thomas' recommendations on proposed San Tomas Aquino Creek improvements with action to be taken by the city. City will arrange with the Campbell Water Company to lower their main water pipe at the

Losing Race Against Inflation

Are many Santa Clara County families losing the race against inflation? The answer is yes, according to George Langlois, President, Murison Label Company, San Jose. He says figures released today in a report by the research department National Association of Manufacturers, show that an average local family of four with an income now of $75 a week is no better off financially than a similar family in 1939 with an income of just $37 a week.

"In other words," he said, "families in Santa Clara County and all over America have been running steadily since 1939 like squirrels in a cage in order to stay in the same place."

The report points out that a $250 monthly income for a family of four won't go as far today as $130 monthly in 1939 because of inflation and increased federal income taxes since that time. This family, with an annual income of $3,000 today, has no more purchasing power than it would have had in 1939 with an income of only $1,545.

Inflation and heavier federal income tax burdens are the two principle reasons why many families with much larger incomes than they had in 1939 are actually no better off financially, he explained. Meanwhile, he added, millions of Americans living on fixed incomes are faced with the serious fact that savings, pensions and insurance dollars on which they must live are worth little more than half their 1939 value.

To illustrate the method used in this survey, he cited the case of a couple in this area with two children and a 1952 income of $3,900, or $75 per week. This family pays $246 in direct federal income taxes—more than three weeks' salary. Since consumer prices, which include indirect taxes on almost all purchases, were in 1939 only 52.7 per cent of 1952 prices, the $3,654 this family has left to spend after paying income taxes will buy no more than a 1939 income of only $1,925, or about $37 a week.

Campbell Avenue crossing at a cost of $250. Engineer was given permission to obtain written consent from property owners along the creek and along the ditch parallel to Cypress Avenue to authorize widening and deepening and removal of obstructions such as remains of used dams.

County Engineer Robert B. Chandler has indicated that the county will widen and deepen the creek from Latimer Avenue to San Tomas Aquino Road, and will carry the work into the city limits.

City council also approved Kuehn's subdivision map for firm of Shulte, Robinson and Stone, after subdividers had posted bonds with the city for storm sewers and subdivision improvements. Storm sewer bond amounted to $6,150.00 based on $150 a lot for 41 lots. Improvements bond was based on a figure not exceeding 100 percent of improvements.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company ordinance granting a franchise to distribute electric power in the city was adopted Tuesday night.

Council voted to approve purchase of an outside speaker for City's police car.

Question of a city court for Campbell is still in the hands of the committee.

Councilman Joseph Dahl is to submit a report on city insurance at next council meeting.

City Treasurer Ed C. Merrill reported a bank balance of $24,780.48 as of August 31.

Judge Crawford Holds Court Today In Campbell

Judge Paul W. Crawford will sit at the Campbell Justice Court this afternoon, in place of vacationing Judge Martin S. Walsh.

Cases on the docket include the hearing of Daniel Yutze, 18, 62 Fairview Los Gatos, cited August 30 by Campbell police for reckless driving (80 miles an hour on Campbell Avenue near Milton), running two stop signs, and being intoxicated.

BALLOT ISSUES TO BE BRIEFED FOR RESIDENTS

As a community service the Campbell Press will publish starting with next week's issue, eight unbiased news stories explaining all the propositions on the November 4 ballot.

The articles will run one a week and will tell the meaning of each proposition in simple, understandable terms. The articles will give both the pros and cons of the arguments. They will not editorialize; They will not express opinions. Their purpose is simply to acquaint voters to reach intelligent decisions when they cast their ballot in November.

The 23 propositions on the state election ballot are of direct interest to Campbell residents. They concern the aged, the veteran, the blind, parents, teachers, the farmer, the businessman, public and private school officials, churches, Communists and anti-Communists, Chinese, banks, college administrators, property owners, and of course, the taxpayer.

Rev. Corwin Olds Addresses Kiwanis At Meeting Here

Rev. Corwin Olds was the featured speaker at Tuesday's Kiwanis meeting.

Dr. Olds, who spoke on "Religion in the Armed Forces," was introduced by chairman of the day Ira Grim.

Rev. Olds, well known figure in the Chaplain corps in the California Cadet corps and in the National Guard, handled his subject with considerable authority and personal experience. He has just returned from a two-week National Guard encampment. During World War II he served with the United States Army Chaplain Corps.

In his talk Dr. Olds outlined what he considers a definite trend toward religion in the armed forces since World War II.

It is becoming increasingly apparent, Dr. Olds said, "that the armed forces of other countries are following the trend so noticeable in the American armed forces."

At the end of Dr. Olds' talk, Fred and Mary Wejak, directors of the Kiwanis-sponsored Aquacade, to be presented at the Campbell High School pool Sept. 12, were introduced by Budd Levenberg.

Next week Kiwanis members will hear a talk by a representative of Rosecrucian Order, who will show a film on Egypt.

ORDINANCE READ

Second reading of ordinance granting Pacific Gas and Electric Co. an indeterminate franchise for supplying gas and electricity to the city was read at City Council Monday night.

PG&E would pay to the city one per cent of gross revenue derived from its services within the city, according to the ordinance.

AREA COMMUNITY SERVICE FUND APPOINTS COMMITTEES TO STRESS NEED FOR LOCAL CONTRIBUTIONS

The publicity committee of the Campbell Area Service Fund Board met in the Chamber of Commerce building in Campbell Tuesday evening with Forrest Reese, general chairman of the Service Fund Drive. Edward F. Tablak, chairman, says plans for publicizing the fund drive include colorful displays in charge of Jerry Erickson, news coverage and script writing, Dorothy Blair; photographic displays, Larry Hill; newspaper advertising, Ed Tablak.

Office space for drive headquarters at 283 E. Campbell Avenue has been donated by Mr. William Lloyd, of the Ainsley Corporation. Office furniture has been loaned by Larry Hill and Ed Tablak. Additional desks and chairs are needed. Anyone willing to lend furniture please phone Mrs. Gertrude Jones, secretary, at Campbell 2869.

Reese, working with the executive committee: Dr. Robert Wade, president; Mrs. Gertrude Jones and Mr. Fred Hoffman, have laid out the area to be covered in 12 units. Each section will have a drive captain to direct and help the workers in soliciting the homes in his area. The captains in most of the areas have already been chosen and are lining up their helpers.

Dr. Robert M. Wade, president of the Service Fund Board, and Forrest Reese, general chairman, both emphasized the importance of the Campbell area fund drive to the residents of Campbell. The Service Fund furnishes the money for organizations giving service to residents of the Campbell area. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Family Service Association, YMCA, Visiting Nurses, Campbell Library milk for underprivileged children in the schools, and the California Defense Fund are supported in the Campbell area by the Service Fund drive. Without this fund these services for young people and families would have to be discontinued.

Dr. Wade emphatically stated that residents receive the full value of every penny donated, for no money from the service fund is used for administration. All help and many materials for the campaign are donated. Reese pointed out that money donated to chests in neighboring towns does not help the families of the residents of the Campbell area. Motto of the drive is: "GIVE WHERE YOU LIVE."

CURFEW STUDIED

Plans for a curfew which will keep Campbell juveniles off the streets after 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 12:30 on Friday and Saturday nights are in the office of City Attorney Joseph A. Bonacina. Decision to adopt a curfew ordinance is being studied by Council members.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL STARTS SEPTEMBER 13 WITH PHYSICALS BY TEAM PHYSICIAN IN GYMNASIUM

Campbell High School football applicants will receive physical examinations from team physician Dr. Robert M. Wade, in the high school gym Sept. 13, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. in preparation for the coming High School football season, head coach Jim Muir announced today. Applicants must submit a card signed by parents consenting to the examination. Cards may be obtained from the high school office, Muir said.

First game of the season pits the local squad against Capuchino High School, Friday, Oct. 3.

Muir said that already 75 applications have been received and that 140 men will receive suits.

Last spring's turnout numbered 200. There will probably be a waiting list, Muir said, but encourages all who think they can play to sign up.

Muir said he has no idea how the team will shape up for this season's schedule but noted with satisfaction that there are four lettermen backs returning and four linemen.

Larry Sutton who alternated at quarterback last year with graduate Wayne Burrows is out again and should see a lot of action at the key spot unless upset by a newcomer. Tony Musladin seems slated for the fullback position to replace Wayne Gregg who graduated. Another standby is Larry Pereira returning for the left half back spot.

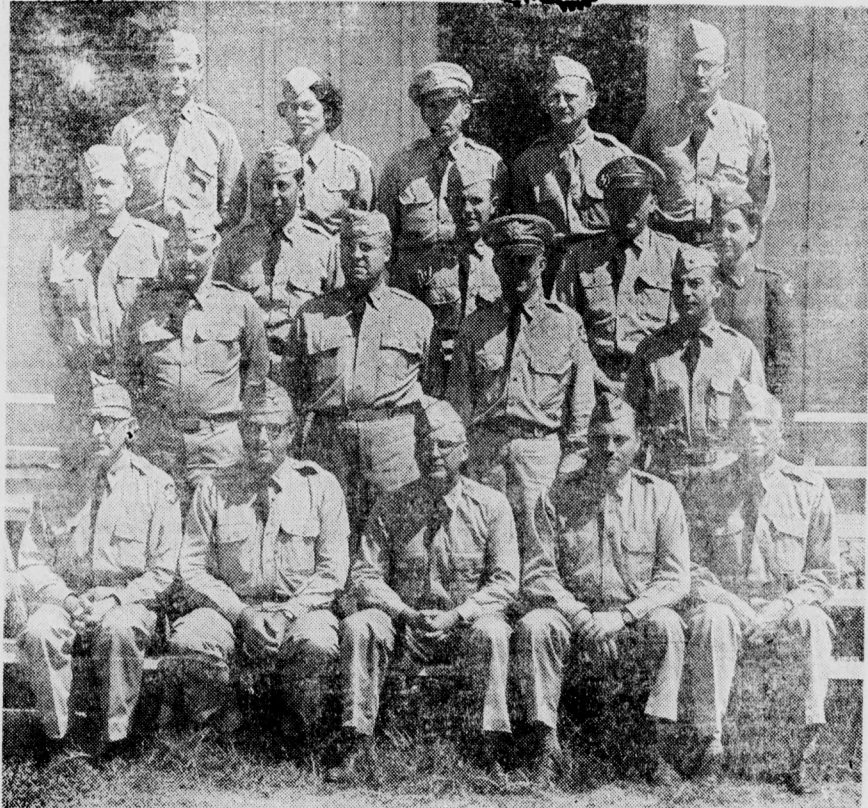

Muir will be counting on line stalwarts Ronnie Edleman, last year's center, whom Muir plans to move to guard position, and Dick Gleed, second string all-valley last year, should have no trouble holding his tackle berth again this year.

On the basis of last year's performance and spring practice this year, center Ron Webb should be able to hold down a regular position.

Jim Muir as head coach will be assisted by Jules Langlo who will handle the 130 squad. George Miskulin will work with Muir with main duties in the line. Junior Morgan will coach the Junior Varsity.

Campbell High School football is composed of teams from three squads. The varsity composed of the best players mostly seniors are the main team and will represent the school.

Junior Varsity is composed of boys, non-seniors, who haven't quite the ability or the experience of the varsity players and the lightweights who play their 6 or 7 game schedule are composed mostly of freshmen students.

Staff and faculty of the San Jose Organized Reserve Corps School was responsible for administering adjutant general training for reservists at the ORC School summer camp at Fort MacArthur, near Los Angeles, for a two-week active duty session which ends this week. Shown at Fort MacArthur are, front row, left to right: Lt. Col. Cecil P. Dana, 1420 San Pedro Street, San Jose; Lt. Col. William M. Moulton, Chandler, Arizona; Colonel Fred W. DeKlotz, 15815 Alta Vista Way, San Jose, commandant; Colonel B. B. Russell, 610 Teresi Lane, Los Altos; Lt. Col. James A. Pierce, 1057 Windsor, Menlo Park. Second row: Major O. D. O'Shea, Sacramento; Major Seldon C. Tracy, 2225 Cherrystone Drive, San Jose. Third row: Captain Anton F. Spilker, 1034 Vale Avenue, Campbell; Captain Carl H. Stahlheber, Chula Vista; Pfc. Thomas M. MOTORISTS ARE URGED TO USE CAUTION, TEST AUTOS FOR MECHANICAL SAFETY

When Campbell's children start back to school next month it means that John Q. Motorist has an added responsibility to have his car and truck in A-1 condition to avoid hitting a youngster on his way to school.

These new school children are the ones who have had little or no instruction in the safeguarding of their lives and limbs when crossing streets.

Even with adequate instruction, they are likely to become panicky and do the wrong thing in an emergency.

Until schools have had time to establish their school safety patrols, children's safety along the streets will depend largely upon the skill and caution of the area's motorists.

Driver's can make certain they will not bear the responsibility for the injury or death of a child by conscious effort. But how about their cars?

The auto's mechanical condition also is a factor in traffic safety. The extra hazards during the coming weeks mean that each car must be capable of responding to any emergency action which its driver calls for.

The first item to be considered, of course, is the brakes. They should be tested to make certain they are operating properly, that they are not badly worn, and that there is no danger of the brake fluid leaking.

Another vital part of the car in safe driving is the steering mechanism. It should be checked to make certain it will respond to sudden changes of direction. Tires whose treads have worn smooth are dangerous. They mean that a car will tend to skid more easily, and no car is under control while it is skidding.

Windshield wipers are another part of the car which should be checked before the school bells ring, to assure good vision in bad weather.

Most of all, however, the driver must be certain he is ever alert for the unexpected. He must bear in mind that, especially near schools, irresponsible children may dart into the street without thinking.

The increase in the number of children going to school is not the only factor to be considered. It also must be borne in mind that there has been a great increase in the number of cars on the road in recent years.

The fatality rate among grade school children is the lowest of any age group has been for many years. This is sterling testimonial to the benefits of safety education, for the youngsters get it in regular doses.

Educators have noted an upswing, however, in the number of mishaps. They believe it is a result of more children, more autos, and more worried drivers.

Frank H. Jacobsens At Cal Alumni Camp
The Frank H. Jacobsens, 38 Jane Ann Way, Campbell, are enjoying the unique program at the University of California's alumni camp, the "Lair of the Golden Bear" this week. The spot, located at Pincrest, 165 miles east of Berkeley, rests 5400 feet up in the Sierras.

Noted chiefly as a place to relax with other alumni and friends—and to join in campfire discussions with Cal professors who are taking a breather at the camp—the Lair also features swimming, fishing, boating and hiking. A kum koral keeps the small fry occupied. Meals are served family-style in a community dining hall. The Lair will close for the year at the end of this week.

Boys' Clothes To Be Sturdy, Masculine

Boy's wear that is sturdily masculine, the style trend for this year, will be welcomed by boys and parents alike. In keeping the casual dress style for this year, school boys will find clothes styled in the same manner as dad's or older brother's.

Parents will be pleased with their son's clothes this year, too. More popular than ever are such wear-resisting materials as corduroy. And fewer seams are likely to be splitting from rough and tumble wear this year when boys get into the roomier clothes being styled for them.

Boys should follow the lead of their older brothers in selecting their wardrobes for the coming year. Slacks, sport shirts, shoes, sweaters tailored and sport jackets, and a water repellent and warm storm coat are the basis for a complete wardrobe.

Checks, solids, and plaids will be shown in slacks. Materials will include new rayon blends, all wool, and corduroy. Boys will find slacks to serve every purpose and to fit every occasion.

After the slacks have been chosen, shirts should be selected according to weather requirements and to suit personal taste. Weights in shirts vary to include cotton, flannel, wool, and rayon.

Sports jackets should be chosen with care. They should be interchangeable so that a boy may mix and match to obtain several changes of outfits with relatively few clothes. Again, these are found in a wide variety of fabrics and patterns.

FELICE SHOE STORE OFFERS HALF-OFF

There are some good deals on shoe buys at Felice Shoe Store, 51 North Santa Cruz Avenue, in Los Gatos. I see by the ad they're running in the paper this week.

They state they're giving one-half off for children's shoes called "Pied Piper" and "Red Goose." If the shoes are as good as the names, they should sell like hot cakes.

Then I notice they are having a close out sale on tennis shoes, which should be a good deal for you fellers and gals going back to school, plannin' to do a little romping on gym floors or the tennis courts.

Of course, the store handles all makes of famous shoe brands with such nifty names as Red Wing, Santa Rosa Boots, Buckhect, Connelly, Winthrop, and Wolverine.

Congressional Candidate Charles S. Gubser has harvested and shipped a profitable crop of a new cross of Golden Bantam corn on his Gilroy farm between campaigns this summer, in addition to serving out his duties as state assemblyman. He is now resuming a heavy campaign schedule for election to Congress November 4.

CONGRESS CANDIDATE CHAS. GUBSER HARVESTS CORN BEFORE CAMPAIGN

Running for Congress doesn't mean a man should give up his way of earning a living, thinks Charles S. Gubser, Gilroy row-crop farmer. But now that the harvest of Golden Bantam corn he's raised this summer on his 120 acres is mostly on its way to market, Gubser will step up his campaign schedule this week.

He grins when he hears that opponents have been asking, "Where's Charlie? Is he over-confident? Doesn't he care to meet the voters?"

"I think they'll get their answer," he says, "when they try to keep up with my schedule." Not that Gubser has been skimping politics during his busy summer. He's done his full job as state assemblyman, working through the special legislative session on the state school building program, making many trips to Sacramento on district business and committee hearings. As a Republican he took an active part in committee work at the state party convention, attended numerous conferences with Richard Nixon, vice-presidential candidate, and other party leaders. He flew down to Los Angeles early last month to confer with Presidential Candidate Dwight Eisenhower.

He has also filled an average of three speaking engagements a week—mostly of the "non-political" variety, and all in the evening when it was too dark to work in his corn fields and pakiingshed.

The corn—a new of Golden Bantam was an experiment that paid off, Gubser said. He harvested an average of two carloads a day the past month and shipped it to markets in Reno, Dallas, Sacramento, Nashville, and Los Angeles.

"It turned out a good deal," he says, "and if I'm sent to Washington in November, you'll always find me between sessions of Congress right back here on my tractor and meeting neighbors throughout the district."

"I think a legislator does a better job, if he keeps the feel of his calling," says Gubser, "and as a farmer there are a few things I'd like to say about the farm claims of the Democratic Administration."

"Under the Republican 80th Congress four years ago, farmers realized a net income of $8,892 million. This income has dropped 25 percent to $6,866 million last year."

"Since the Republican 80th Congress, prices received by farmers have dropped from an index of 306 to 235—71 points—while food prices have gone down only 10 index points. Meanwhile prices farmers pay have gone up about 25 percent. For instance, a 20-29 horsepower tractor has gone up in price from $1600 to $2000."

"In the two years of the Republican 80th Congress, farmers were getting 52 percent of the consumer's dollar. Today they get 48 percent. Last year the average family's food purchases totaled $723. Today it has increased $25 to $748. Yet how much of this does the farmer get? Where he got $360 last year, he gets $361 this year. In other words, these official government statistics show that of the $25 more the consumer paid, the farmer got exactly one dollar."

FINAL RETURNS ON PRUNES, COTS PEACHES MADE

Additional returns totaling $1,029,445.46 will be distributed to members of the California Prune and Apricot Growers Association on 1951 dried fruit deliveries. It was disclosed today by Director F. L. Steindorf, local representative of the Campbell-Los Gatos Prune and Apricot Association.

Final returns will be distributed on prunes, dried apricots, and dried peaches.

The prune distribution will be an additional $14.22 per ton on each grower's entire delivery. With this additional payment, Association growers will have received better than 10 cents bulk basis for Fancy French prunes, sizes 51/Larger, on both salable fruit and that going into the surplus set-aside. There will be the usual differentials on the other qualities and size grades.

The apricot distribution will amount to $32.54 ton additional for each grower's entire delivery. Peach grower-members will receive an additional $5.40 per ton for their total delivery.

The calculation of each grower's account will be begun immediately and distribution of the final returns will be made during the first week of September.

Steindorf stated that the Association management is particularly gratified at being able to complete the final payments on 1951 prune deliveries at this early date.

Gorgeous George, heaven's gift to the wrestling racket, will be sort of unofficial candidate for the president's office. He contends that the head of the nation should have hair on it. Ike and Adlai haven't. He has. But suppose he gets scalped at the polls?

American Business Behind The Scenes

BY REYNOLDS KNIGHT

Vital statistics, dull though they are, can sometimes provide manufacturers with the key to unlock the mystery of long-range market predicting.

A good example is the emphasis being placed on the recent decline in marriages. Because a relatively small portion of the population is now reaching a marriageable age—due to the low birth rate of the 1930's—fewer families are being formed and for the next 10 years or so businesses dealing in furniture, silverware, wedding rings, baby needs, electric irons, washing machines, etc., can't expect to do as well as other types of business.

On the other hand, companies dealing with anything that might interest teen-agers or oldsters can look forward to a sizeable business pickup in the coming years because of the bumper war-baby crop now nearing their teens—and because of the increasing longevity in this country.

Those who expect to be on the short end due to adverse trends in vital statistics will do well to start looking for new fields to conquer. Those who will benefit should begin plans now for improved design and greater volume.

Pocketbook Prohibition—Excessive liquor taxes are putting a severe restriction on the American consumer—a squeeze that amounts to "pocketbook prohibition."

Harry G. Serlis, president of Schenley Distributors, Inc., recently cited the fact that tax-paid withdrawals of domestic whiskey—regarded as an accurate barometer of consumer buying—declined 25,017,008 gallons in the first six months after the new $10.50 federal excise tax went into effect. The Schenley executive also noted the total of direct and indirect taxes on a $5 bottle of whiskey have reached the staggering total of $3.80. This, he says, is "pocketbook prohibition," in that the tax-inflated price of legal liquor has forced many consumers out of the legal market and has brought a dangerous increase in the bootleg whiskey traffic. Increased consumption of "moonshine" has been accompanied by the growth of a new criminal element to carry on bootlegging.

And besides, said Serlis, although the purpose in raising the federal excise tax was to increase revenues, actually the government received $127,268,728 less in revenues from domestic whiskey than it had the previous six months when the tax was lower and more consumers so that it's hard to tell whether fighter planes are becoming larger or bombers smaller.

But, in order to get the kind of power plants needed for faster planes, Peale stressed the need for more research. He says that the present limiting factor to faster jet planes is the engine—not the air frame.

Higher and Higher — It costs more to live in America today than ever before. The cost-of-living index of the Labor Department's bureau of labor statistics has inched up steadily for the past five months and as of July 15 stood at 12.1 per cent above the pre-Korea war level and 190.8 per cent of the 1935-39 base period.

Food price increases were largely responsible, gaining 1.5 per cent between June 15 and July 15. Miscellaneous goods and services, including higher automobile insurance rates and medical care, rose 0.3 per cent.

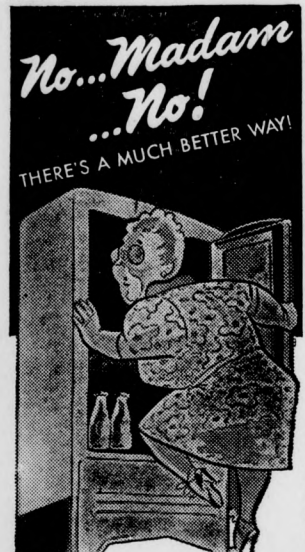

About the only ones who don't lose are those workers whose earnings are tied to the c.o.l., mainly those working under U.A.W. contracts. Ford and General Motors have already raised hourly wages three cents in line with the index rise.

Bits o' Business—The average work week for factory employees declined from 40.4 hours to 39.9 hours between mid-June and mid-July. Average hourly earnings were $1.65, off 1 per cent. . . . Shipments of plastic-coated materials and plastic sheeting during the first six months of the year topped the preceding six months by 1,201,354 linear yards. . . . Retail grocers still lead in candy sales in the U. S., accounting for $335,340,000, or 20.7 per cent of all retail sales. . . . Cotton consumption, 28,858 for each working day, continued during the July period was at par with 34,798 during the previous period and 32,003 bales during the same period a year ago.
